THE CPC LINK CONSORTIUM MEMBERSHIP

TERMS & CONDITIONS

2. The consortium member will operate as part of THE CPC LINK consortium, JAAPT approval number AC01913
3. The consortium member will not be recognised in isolation of THE CPC LINK consortium by either the Driver Standards Agency (DSA) or the JAAPT.
4. Consortium membership is only valid for a period of twelve months, between the dates notified on THE CPC LINK website. After this date, unless membership is renewed, there will be no obligation to the member by THE CPC LINK. The member will, however, be expected to undertake its obligations with regard to candidate records. Upon cessation of membership, all THE CPC LINK training materials must be removed from all electronic devices within the member's jurisdiction. In the event of cessation of membership, entitlement to use THE CPC LINK or JAAPT logos or marketing materials will cease.
5. The consortium member should update records held on THE CPC LINK website of any changes to the company information held by THE CPC LINK as part of Training Centre Approval. Copies of new documentation must be uploaded to THE CPC LINK website within 10 working days of such changes being made. For the avoidance of doubt this includes, but is not limited to, updates to Training Centre Accreditations with other regulated bodies, changes to company details and status, instructor status, new insurance details etc.
6. The consortium member can only deliver periodic driver CPC courses that have been registered by THE CPC LINK and have JAAPT approval. THE CPC LINK will accredit new courses at the request of consortium members with the JAAPT if the training is deemed appropriate to periodic driver CPC training and demand is sufficient within the consortium.
7. Instructors delivering THE CPC LINK approved courses must be registered with THE CPC LINK Approved Centre. Evidence of members training staff qualifications will be uploaded for approval prior to courses being delivered and instructors will be required to undergo THE CPC LINK "initial" training if required, prior to being able to conduct THE CPC LINK developed training. Notification of changes to an instructor's status must be notified to THE CPC LINK within ten working days with changes being uploaded to THE CPC LINK website for consortium approval.
8. Induction for administration staff responsible for the uploading of required documentation to THE CPC LINK website will be available upon request.
9. The DSA or the JAAPT may request an audit of THE CPC LINK processes and procedures which may involve visiting the consortium member at no cost to the member.

Recording of Candidate Details

1. The instructor should ensure that candidates record all personal and driving license details on the course registration form, which should be printed out prior to the course commencement.
2. The instructor MUST adhere to the guidelines listed in the “Classroom Procedures” form which is attached to the course register.
3. A “quiz” answer sheet should also be printed out for each delegate attending the course.
4. Instructors should check the driving license and provide proof of identity for each attendee. Proof of evidence will need to be stored by the training centre for a period not less than six years. Acceptable forms of proof of identity check are as follows:
 - a photocard driving licence
 - a valid passport
 - a digital tachograph card
 - a driver qualification card (DQC)
5. Training centres should upload attendee details, quiz results and feedback within four days.
6. Certificates and course notes will be emailed directly to the attendee, where delegates opt out from this option details will be sent to the member organisation who must ensure the attendee receives the certificate via other methods.

Evaluation of the Candidate Response

1. Instructors and Training Centres should review attendee feedback sheets to ascertain whether there are issues with the course content, delivery method, etc.
2. Consortium members should identify any consistent issues within its control and establish appropriate remedial actions to address them. Where the issue concerns THE CPC LINK developed course material, the consortium member should notify THE CPC LINK at the earliest opportunity. THE CPC LINK will use best endeavours to rectify course material within its control prior to the next scheduled course.
